Meeting hosts two potential new members

By Stuart Deane

The November 19 meeting, presided over by president-elect Jane Collins, conducted some business, took a look at the National Exchange Club website (right) and, most promisingly, hosted two new potential members.

Fred Thallman, invited by new member William Shuttleworth, is a retired investment banker who moved to Newburyport 18 months ago to be near family. He is a U.S. Navy Vietnam veteran.

Mike Vangelist, son-in-law of member Scott Berkenbush, is a cancer survivor who has run the Boston Marathon for the past ten years to support the Dana Farber Cancer Center. He is a small business owner.

After introductions around the table, Jane conducted some business, including coming to a consensus on donating our share of the upcoming joint health fair with the Lions Club to the Community Service of Newburyport food and clothing bank.

After dinner, yours truly demonstrated the secretary's usage of the National Exchange Club website to register new members and to log in new service projects. In addition, member Barbara Griffith showed our local website and our Facebook page.
